Walsh and Sweeney de cided, the former testified, that Fox's bail must be furnished and his family cared for if he was convicted and "took his medicine" without telling what he knew of grafting. Walsh said he paid his share to Sweeney, who told him that the other inspectors and himself would supply the rest. Fox's confes-sion put an end to this fund-raising. The other fund was smaller and was actually raised, so Walsh testified, to pay George A. Sipp, a hotelkeeper, not to appear before the grand jury to tell how he bought police protection.

Testifying as to graft, Walsh swore he collected tribute for a number of years from Sipp and other resort owners. He split the money with the de-fendants, he said, retaining 40 per cent for himself and giving a similar share to the inspector in charge at the time, the remainder being kept by the patrolman who did the actual grafting. Walsh was on the stand nearly eight hours to-day, a part of the time under cross examination. Walsh will testify. Night sessions will

This line of examination was intended to show that according to the New Haven's road's contention capitalization had increased only 100 per cent instead of 400 per cent, and that the gross income had increased more than $20,000 in nine years, or about 42 per cent.

In the same nine years, according to the testimony, the total assets had grown from $114,971,000 to $495,744,000. Mr. Choate claimed, and the witness supported his contention in the main that approximately $74,000,000 had been expended for equipment in nine years, and that in that time the road had been practically re-equipped.

House Committee on Expenditures in the Treasury Department at the last session investigated the question and recommended that the Secretary of the distance of the government's money.

Secretary McAdoo to-night declared he did not anticipate any serious resistance on the part of the banks to the new policy. If any bank was disposed to surrender its account by reason of the order, he said, there were many others willing to, take it up.

A stenographic report of all Bryan's conference, with the Governor and Legislature of California, questions and answers, was by wire upon the desk of the President. Mr. Wilson spent the day in poring over this report and these dispatches. Vestels Being Moved.

The War Department followed the same tactics of absorption and silence. There was much activity, but it is carefully given out that nothing it is doing has any reference to Japan. This diplomatic assurance is designed to avoid anything that might carry a remote suggestion of mobilization which would be construed as a hostile act by Japan.

Ships stop there save those operated by the Caribbean company, and up to now they have escaped general attention. Roncador is the largest of the group, with a fine land-locked harbor and great storage capacity for all kinds of naval stores. There was renewed in the War Department to-day a sudden anxiety to get the defenses of the Panama Canal into immediate commission. It transpires that four or five of the fourteen inch guns which are being manufactured in this country, are to be shipped immediately to the west coast of the Panama Canal. It is stated that the force of laborers at either end of the canal will assist in the emplacement work. The big 16-inch gun, the carriage for which is nearly completed at Sandy Hook, will be the first to be dispatched to the Canal Zone. It has a radius of about twenty miles. Canal Nearly Ready.

Most important and most encourag-ing of all, news leaks out that the Navy Department has the secret de-tails of plans by which the Panama Canal can be utilized almost immediately to shift the Atlantic seet to the Pacific Coast. At the present rate of construction,

It is stated that even slides in the Culebra Cut will present no obstacle. In case of emergency, a single day's work, could put aside sufficient earth to let any vessel of the navy type pass through. Every government official is full of praise for Colonel Goethals and the superb exposition of his work.

On March 1, 95 per cent of the concrete construction in connection with all the canal locks was laid. At the present time these locks are practically completed.
